

This is where you put down a professional endorsement for your brand, products, and services!

This can be good material to use for a follow-up email to further establish your credibility.

Example:

An endorsement from (well known company/customer):

"I have never used a service as often as I do with JTmail. My business increased its sales by 20% within my first month of using the program. I would strongly recommend this program to anyone who is seeking to tell the world what your business is about!"
